Ashleigh Holland, HR Consultant

Ashleigh Holland is an experienced immigration and human resources professional with a diverse background spanning talent management, employee mobility, nonprofit leadership, operations, and community engagement. She has managed high-volume immigration matters, employee onboarding, relocation services, and HR support, while working closely with government agencies and senior leadership. She is recognised for her strong stakeholder communication, ability to manage complex workflows, and consistent focus on meeting and exceeding critical deadlines.

Beyond her corporate career, Ashleigh has held leadership roles in the nonprofit and community sectors, including serving as a Deputy Director, where she coordinated experiential programs for youth and professional groups, supported residential programs, led scholarship initiatives, and worked closely with parents, schools, government partners, and community organisations. She brings additional experience in operations, project management, consulting, and stakeholder engagement, with a career that has consistently centered on building relationships, improving processes, and ensuring effective program and organisational delivery.

A committed community leader, Ashleigh has chaired workplace well-being initiatives and contributed to crisis management, scholarship, and internship programs. She also has a strong background in fitness and wellness, having served as a Spin Instructor and previously delivered group fitness programming.

Ashleigh holds a Bachelor of Arts in Sociology from McMaster University and a Certificate in Nonprofit Management from the University of Wisconsin–Milwaukee. Her career reflects a broad commitment to people, community, organisational excellence, and creating positive experiences for those she serves.
